

I am a big fan of satellite radio, and I get great value from their traffic and weather reporting. After years of trying to find decent radio stations to listen to in the ever-shrinking format wars, satellite radio is a true breakthrough. not since the 70s have I been able to hear music that isn't drawn from the same ten "hits." There is no reason that NAB should have any say in satellite radio content, and I hope that you will reject their petition 04-160. If commercial radio had any value to me and music lovers like me, we would be listening to it; and this attempt to place limits on satellite radio is out of place and unwarranted. When commercial radio improves, I will listen to it again. Queenie Taylor
